"Nastya, a graphic designer, dreams to adopt 7-year-old Yegor from an orphanage. Her husband left her when he found out she had almost no chances to get pregnant. Now she is successful but lonely and lives her life dreaming of a child. Yegor is not an ordinary child: two years ago, he suffered from a psychological injury due to which he stopped speaking and got to the orphanage. Nobody knows what exactly happened to him. It turns out the kid knows where his father, a robber, hid a million dollars. The prison wardens and the orphanage manager hunt him to find the money themselves. Nastya is on her way to the Adoption Board meeting, gets too late, violates traffic rules, for which Andrei, officer, stops her. Andrei is kind and just, and he helps

Nastya in her difficult searches of truth and fights for Yegor. Yegor's father is arrested, yet the million is not found. He dies in prison after being tortured by wardens. Yegor saw his father being shot during the robbery, which is why he stopped speaking. Chasing after the million and looking for Yegor, Nastya is being shot, Yegor sees it and shouts out «Mommy!», and this saves her from a bullet. Nastya is astonished: the kid speaks! SYNOPSIS

At the beginning of 2020, the sudden outbreak of COVID-19 plunged China into crisis. During the pain time, people from all over the country have supported Wuhan in various ways and accomplished many impressive feats. The construction of Huoshenshan Hospital was completed, thus the critical ill patients were admitted and cured. A couple, doctor and nurse, came to the epidemic area together to fight side by side against the disease. During the quarantine period, a family war between a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law was on the verge of breaking out, but they became to understand each other and formed their "united front" at last. Doctor Wu, who was about to retire, took the initiative to undertake the screening work of the happy community, while new nurse Zou became her partner. Their team, which the members had totally disparate experiences and ideas, worked together to complete massive trivial community works. Another "old and young" team was consisted of two drivers: old Zhou and post-90's Dongzhi. They grew up together on the 1,000 kilometer journey, brought love and warmth to Wuhan. "Rabbit uncle" accidentally stranded in Wuhan, and went to the hospital as a cleaner in desperation, optimistically inspiring people around him under the "test of life and death". In Wuhan cabin hospital, patients with mild diseases with different characteristics formed a "temporary family" of happiness in hardship, feeling the truth of different hardships... In the experience of life and death at the same time, ordinary and great heroes fight against the epidemic, injecting great spiritual strength into the final victory of the fight against the epidemic.

SYNOPSIS

A psychologist, Magdalena Borska, returns to Poland after a few years of absence in the country and undertakes work in a hospital. On the very first day, the doctor must face not only the problems of patients but also the reluctance of the entire medical team. The hospital staff hide from Magdalena the trauma they have experienced after an unsuccessful rescue action that took place six months earlier when a shopping mall and a cinema had burned down. On that day, dozens of heavily burned victims were submitted to the hospital. Most of them could not be saved, and one of the best hospital surgeons – Jan Sowiński – was accused of a mistake in art. Will the main character, after difficult experiences gained in London, find herself in a new place? How will her relationship with the team develop?

Heartbeat is a medical series in which episodic threads of patients admitted to the hospital are intertwined with stories of doctors and hospital staff. One of the biggest advantages of the production is the fact that most of the scenes are filmed in the interiors of a real hospital.

SYNOPSIS

A top-notch comedy series, full of humour and laughter, in which two different worlds collide. The first one is the world of ordinary people who live from hand to mouth, while the second is the world of rich lawyers. The series proves that an ordinary girl can become a better defender than many advocates. The main heroine, Iga Matecka, is a twice divorced, unemployed mother of two children, without higher education, who speaks the truth straight in the eyes. The woman possesses an amazing sense of observation, a soft heart and a sharp tongue. She is direct and excessively honest, which does not help her in dealing with other people. Her life changes when she meets a young and talented lawyer Marcin Kaszuba, who treats life as an endless party. The relation between the two is not an easy one and it results in many hilarious events. Is love between people from such different worlds possible? Will the affection survive all the adversities and challenges?

Franz Kafka. Powerless in every way and moreover, in the most perfect way. Franz Kafka, the great novelist widely regarded as one of the major figures of 20th-century literature.

Yet given this stature, we find his life itself was more absurd than what was depicted in his novels. Few people know that he suffered from an "obsession with despair," where he found everything in life to be hopeless. "Kafka's Tokyo Despair Diary" is an inexplicable comedy that follows Kafka as he lives in Tokyo finding despair in various subjects such as "the need for approval on social media," and "the practice of searching for a marriage partner."

As Kafka is thoroughly overwhelmed by a feeling of despair, his courage and graceful manner in which he deals with it will no doubt give you hope in life.

SYNOPSIS

In our documentary series aiming to present the geographies where different life stories come together through a poetic text and a visual structure; the people, who are the points of origin of these stories will be the narrators of the chapters.

Our goal is to provide an intimate and original presentation by using an identifiable and relatable language instead of academic and distant sociological analysis.

We aim to convey this by focusing on the fact that the personal histories of individuals at different points of life constitute the history of the region.

Nowadays, as globalization has an increased impact on everything, languages and cultures are rapidly disappearing. The civilizations that emerged as a result of a very long period of time, isolated from each other in different lands, face the danger of losing their identity with the development of technology. At such a time, the communities that have been able to preserve their cultural heritage or create their own culture due to unexpected conditions have become more attractive.

The topographical and socioeconomic structures selected, with extreme examples, are important for two characteristics. First of all, the similarities of the imagination, desires and needs of the people living in these communities, but under very different conditions, constitute an important thematic presentation to understand humanity.

On the other hand, it reveals a fascinating background for the cinematographic structure, which will be very important in the series. Thus, we will have the opportunity to work on a rich visual palette such as the white villages of Siberia and red hot deserts of Mali.

We aim to be an important example of Turkish documentary art through the series which we will process universal issues with international attraction above the world standards regarding the content and aesthetic sense.

At the age of 30, Mélanie and Olivier had traveled the world and met people from all over the globe. But they realized that they had never walked into an Indian reserve in their home country, Canada. So the young couple decided to explore the North Shore of Quebec by bike to better understand the complex relationships between Quebecers and First Nations peoples. Studies show that more than 50% of French Canadians have at least one Native American ancestor. So why is there such a lack of understanding when it comes to Aborigines? Why are prejudices still so ingrained? What will it take to change things? Their encounters, both planned and spontaneous, include the surprising tale of an Innu man in search of his ancestors in Normandy, and the heart-wrenching story of the sister of Corporal Marcel Lemay, who was killed during the 1990 Oka crisis.

SYNOPSIS

In December 2019, Dr. Tetsu Nakamura was gunned down and killed in Afghanistan, where he had been providing humanitarian aid.

During his 35 years working on-site, Dr. Nakamura did much more than providing medical care. He dug wells, built irrigation canals and gave life-saving assistance to the people around him. An irrigation canal project he completed in 2010 now supports the lives 650,000 people. Kyushu Asahi Broadcasting Company (KBC) conducted our first interview with Dr. Nakamura in 1985, one year after he went abroad on his mission. In 1992, KBC became the first Japanese media outlet to do an in-depth story on Dr. Nakamura's humanitarian efforts in Afghanistan and Pakistan. In this program, Dr. Nakamura's daughter speaks out in her first interview ever as a member of the Nakamura family.

Why was Dr. Nakamura such an inspiration to so many people? Using past video footage and numerous testimonials, we look back at how Dr. Tetsu Nakamura lived his life.

SYNOPSIS

Okinoshima soars from the sea between Japan and the Korean Peninsula. The island is believed to embody one of the three goddesses worshipped at the shrines of Munakata Taisha. For centuries, the Japanese people have looked toward Okinoshima with awe and respect, offering reverent prayer to its sacred divinity. It was, and still is, the site of national religious rituals. More than 80,000 artifacts, every single one of them a designated national treasure, have been found on the island. Okinoshima became a World Heritage site in July 2017. However, entry onto the island is strictly forbidden in principle. A lone priest watches over the island and rigid rules are still followed to this day. Not a single branch, blade of grass, or stone may be taken off of Okinoshima, and anything seen or heard on the island must stay on the island. What is it that made the ancients sense the divine in Okinoshima? What prompted them to make so many sacred offerings there? Photographer and author Shinya Fujiwara's fascination with Okinoshima and his artistic sense provide a unique perspective into the provenance of prayer on this island full of mystery.

Silk is a great invention of China and its first world-famous creation. Silk products had always been the world most important international trade supplies before the industrial revolution. The documentary focuses on silk, which is merely 0.02 mm in diameter, and records with contemporary photography technology the profound influence of such a delicate tiny thread on people daily life and production in a sophisticated manner.

Natural silk is slender and elegant. Under a microscope, the two triangular cross-sections of silk are closely arranged; the hanging degree of raw and treated silk contrasts sharply; unearthed brocade of an Eastern Zhou tomb has 240 warps per centimeter. Silk not only presents a breathtaking micro-world, but also records the exquisite craftsmanship of silk makers.

SYNOPSIS

It is a story about women from two different parts of the globe, who challenged the traditional order of the world and their influence on the younger generation of alpinists in Poland and Nepal. In 1992, Wanda Rutkiewicz, a Polish Himalayan climber, after her conquest of the K2 mountain as the first women in history, set to climb the next eight-thousand-meter peak - Kanchenjunga. She has never returned from that expedition. Until this day her fate is unknown. Nevertheless, with her energy and charisma she managed to inspire the next generation of young alpinists. At that time in Nepal, there was another woman alpinist Pasang Lhamu Sherpa. In 1993 Pasang for the third time set up on the expedition to Everest that she climbed as the first Nepali woman in history. Unfortunately, like Wanda, she has never returned to the lowlands. But her legend lives on. The two women are connected not only by their love to the highest mountains. Equally, Wanda and Pasang, while realising their dreams, not only they had to challenge their weaknesses, the altitude or bad weather. Both had to challenge the male order of the world that they were born to. 25 years after Wanda's and Pasang's disappearance, their successors appeared on the world arena: Kinga Baranowska and Maya Sherpa. Inspired by the courageous heroines of the last century, they continue the tradition of female himalaism raising the bar for others.

SYNOPSIS

As the authors combined traits of documentary and feature movies, this documentary series shows the nature of Central and Eastern Europe in a new and a totally innovative way. The directors show stories of ten extraordinary characters through a three-act structure of drama by combining their wild nature with the language of the silver screen. As a result, the viewers meet an orphaned wolf, an owl who feeds its family, a hard-working bug and many others. The plots are enriched with various information on each species. The documentary is extraordinary also thanks to the place where the plot is set. It is the Białowieża Forest, the last remaining of the lowland, primeval forests that covered nearly the entire Europe.

Introduced to Europe in the 17th century by the East India Company, Arita ware, one of Japan's representative brands of porcelain, became an overnight sensation. At the time, European royals and nobles gave Arita ware high praise and referred to them as "white gold," competing to collect them as symbols of their wealth and authority. Now, on the occasion of their 400th anniversary, the Arita ware industry is about to change drastically. While standing upon their traditions, the potters are attempting to give birth to a new kind of Arita ware. They are creating novel designs for the world to enjoy. This program introduces Arita's 400-year history through the eyes of young and energetic artist Miwa Komatsu. We look forward to seeing the new "Arita" creations that Miwa will create, along with Sakaida Kakiemon XV, who has taken on the preservation of the traditions of Arita ware, that will lead them to the next 100 years.

People who end in the psychiatric hospital try to get out of there as soon as possible and never return. Sergei not only stayed there but created a theatre stage. His actors are mainly the patients, both adults and children, as well as Sergei's own kids. There's no split into separate groups. Together they're working on putting on a play The Elves' Tower, written by one the patients. The play tells the story of an elf who enters the cruel and greedy world of human beings: a city, the inhabitants of which care only for themselves and their own survival.

The elf wants to grant them wings to escape from the daily struggles but is only met with doubt and mockery. Only a handicapped girl puts her trust in him and soars through the skies above the city and its problems. The girls are trustful just like Sergei, who looks at the people in the hospital not as mentally ill patients but as unique human beings. He sees them as "Manelves", tries to break them out of the cage of prejudice and return them to the world. He still strongly believes that the art's purpose is to make the world a better place.

The documentary "Holdin On To Life"; It aims to draw the attention of the society, the struggle of the people who hold on to life by embracing the hope they live in spite of all kinds of negative conditions. Fethiye Altıntaş is a woman with ALS. She notes in her diary what she experienced during the illness. Writing is a solution that keeps her alive and keeps in touch with society. Although she can communicate with her relatives for the time being, she is aware that she will lose this ability in the future. We observed the life of Fethiye Altıntaş during her illness and her struggle to hold on to life for two years. Much better than most ALS patients. She does not give up writing the kinds of treatments that she applies, her feelings, to set an example for those who have this disease. She wants her writing to set an example for other people to cure this disease.

Helena is a doctor who should have retired a long time ago due to poor health, but she finds herself unable to leave her patients. Thirty years ago, she moved from Poland to India, where she has worked at the Jeevodaya centre for leprosy patients and their children ever since. To her youngest patients, she is not only a doctor, but also a motherly figure, and everyone at the centre calls her 'mum'. There is only one person who seems to have a problem with her: the new Head of the institution. Unwilling to accept Helena's authority among the patients, he has been trying to get rid of her. Despite being a Catholic priest, he does not appreciate her charitable work and has given her a derisive nickname, 'Mother Teresa'.

It is an intimate story of love in the face of an incurable disease, suffering, anger, and powerlessness. The protagonists are a long-time married couple, Adam and Wanda, in which the husband is healthy and the wife suffers from Alzheimer's disease. The starting point of the story is the moment when the woman's condition starts to deteriorate rapidly and her amnesia gradually becomes more and more intense. Adam looks after his wife alone every day, twenty-four hours a day. He washes her, feeds her and changes her diapers. He constantly reminds her of their old life. He shows her their old home movies from the past when they were both young and in love. Adam has decided that he will not abandon Wanda, against the advice of doctors and family. He decides he will not do it even when she forgets his name. He knows that her eyes are always looking for him. Will he be able to keep his promise?

SYNOPSIS

The only Holocaust story with a happy ending. The recent documentary movie 'Turkish Passport' is the unlikely story of Turkish diplomats who helped save tens of thousands of lives by issuing passports to Jews during World War II. The new documentary contains extensive research and an impressive production, which hits the right nerves, especially in these trying times.

"Turkish Passport" is an unusual story about the Holocaust; it is unusual simply by having the word "Turkish" in its title, since Turkey was a neutral country during WW II. The documentary, directed by former advertisement director Burak Cem Arlıel and written by Deniz Yeşilgün and Gökhan Zincir, is a surprising recount of Turkish diplomats in France and other European countries who had saved the lives of tens of thousands of Jews by issuing them Turkish passports.

The film addresses the Siege of Sarajevo twenty years later through a walk taken by 10 different characters. As the camera goes around on the streets of Sarajevo, we get to witness the signs of the war. When Serbians were busy preparing for the war they were planning to start, Bosnians were having pro-peace protests on the streets. As the assaults intensified, Presidency of Bosnia-Herzegovina declared war in June 20, 1992. Thousands of people died during the subsequent war which lasted three and a half years.

The war made headlines around the globe due to the atrocities committed against the people of Bosnia. However, the epic victory gained by handmade guns against the fourth largest army in Europe was ignored. Sarajevo March is the story of victory, not atrocity.

On July 15, 2016, a failed coup attempted in Turkey. that was a unique attempt in world coup history. The Turkish people resisted and thwarted the coup by showing an epic resistance, unarmed, on this night. That night, heroic epics were written all over Turkey. Among those who wrote this epic was the Kazan District of Ankara, which took the title of 'hero' after July 15. Planes taking off from the Main Jet Base were bombing Ankara. The people of Kazan had burned their crops in the field and tires on their tractors to prevent the planes taking off. The night of the treacherous coup attempt, 9 were killed and 92 wounded. We will watch the stories of 3 children who were relatives of the martyrs who witnessed that night as well. We'll hear the story of the burnt wheat through their heroics.

The documentary is about the 7th Division Commander, Captain Yusuf Kenan, who first noticed the British landing at İkiz Bay on April 25, 1915, when the Battle of Çanakkale started and stopped the enemy unit of 250 people with 250 units. The documentary will tell you about this heroic epic. However, there is another feature that distinguishes Captain Yusuf Kenan, who was a 34-year-old martyr. It is centuries-old letters dating back to the present day.

In addition to the war, the letters reveal what difficulties a family had behind the front, the longing that was taken. In the documentary "A Hero of Çanakkale: Captain Yusuf Kenan", the great heroism shown by both Yusuf Kenan will be described; and what a family lives behind the front will be revealed in very striking expressions.

SYNOPSIS

Seven years. Six million displaced people. The biggest humanitarian emergency of our time. The Syrian refugee crisis remains at the forefront of the global consciousness: as statistics, as photographs, as a bargaining chip in international politics. But inside the camps real people settle in to a life in limbo. Watan (Homeland) explores two of the biggest refugee camps in Jordan - Zaatari and Azraq - along with neighbouring city Jerash, to paint intimate portraits of the men, women and children who have found themselves there.

Through observation of daily life, Watan builds a simple yet powerful series of interwoven stories that go beyond the statistics to find the human heart of the refugee crisis. These are stories of sadness, fear, beauty and surprises: from a young woman raising a family that is not hers, to a seventeen-year-old concreter, an all-women's filmmaking class, a boy who finds meaning through football, and more. It shines a much-needed light on the human stories at the centre of the global debate of immigration and asylum, giving a voice to the Syrian refugees in Jordan.

SYNOPSIS

A documentary film based on restored archive footage from the Polish-Soviet War of 1920 which culminated with one of the greatest military victories in the history of Poland. The Battle of Warsaw, a crucial battle for Poland and Europe, also known as the Miracle of the Vistula was fought in August 1920. The entire war, however, spanned a much longer period of time and a much larger area than just Warsaw. The battles were fought from Smolensk to Warsaw, from Plock to Lviv. The victory was not really a miracle but the result of the effective command, valuable intel gathered by the Polish army and the soldiers' fighting spirit. The War of the Worlds also features radio broadcasts, witnesses' accounts, photographs, orders and secret reports. The Polish Television also restored previously unpublished, hundred years old footage, from Russia, France, Great Britain, Czech Republic, Hungary and the USA.

The documentary presents the phenomenon of Vladimir Putin in Russia. The man has been immensely popular for the past 15 years despite the collapse of ruble, a rise in prices and recent isolation of Russia in Europe. The more criticized he is by the Western world, the higher his ratings are. According to polls conducted by the end of 2014, he is still supported by 86% of Russians, therefore, some sociologists call it a phenomenon. The author of the documentary is trying to investigate this astounding news by visiting a number of places and talking to all sorts of people who express their opinions on Putin and contemporary Russia. In her journeys she visits places which are remote in terms of distance and human mentality which include: Moscow, Crimea and the so-called 'glubinka' that is the Russian back of beyond.

Cesium-137 is one of the numbers of the radioactive substances emitted in the environment during the disaster at the fourth power unit of the Chernobyl Nuclear Power Plant. In Latin Cesium means «sky-blue». Along with other hazardous substances, this azure dust contaminated the Exclusion Zone and resulted in thousands of destroyed lives. The authors of the documentary project Azure Dust managed to find two people with unique fate who lived in Prypyat at the time when the disaster happened. Like many others, they were evacuated with a big delay. However, despite all this, they both managed to survive and demonstrate with their own example that you can beat the system and overcome the complicated circumstances if you have persistence, hope, and faith. The documentary might be called a guide to the Exclusion Zone. Thanks to the unique footage from the place of the tragedy, that the crew succeeded to capture, the viewers will have a chance for a full immersion into the atmosphere of the events and, along with the heroes of the film, feel the dreadful and amazing air that reigns were one of the major anthropogenic disasters took place. The main character of the documentary is a STALKER, he is a guide, who takes tourists to the Zone for money. We will choose him among the many professionals of this trade that almost literally incarnated in Chernobyl from the Strugatskys' novel Roadside Picnic. All the stories of the Zone will be threaded on the storyline of the journey with the stalker. In these stories, like in the Strugatskys' novel, invisible dangers lurk behind every bush – cesium is scattered around in unseen spots, and each of these is fraught with a hazard of exposure.

SYNOPSIS

The film tells the story of a tragic yet reciprocal love of a young German aristocrat to a Polish butler. The social and moral differences are the reason why the feeling, which brought them together, has no chance of existence. A complicated history of people of three nations living in the northern region of Poland – Poles, Kashubian, and German, forms the background of the main story. Their lives are shown in a broad perspective over the period of 25 years, from 1920 until 1945. At the same time, the Second Republic of Poland is formed and many German estates are situated on the Polish side of the border. This situation not only generates numerous conflicts, but it also gives excellent ground for the birth of Nazism. The dramatic events of the war and an equally strong trauma caused by the entry of Soviet troops permanently cause a personal tragedy of the main characters – Marita von Krauss and Mateusz Kroll. Will their love survive in the worst moments in the history of Europe?

SYNOPSIS

It is a shocking picture of the last few months in a military prison for Polish officers before the Katyn massacre. Wasilij Zarubin, a Soviet secret service officer, after a failed mission in Germany is about to be executed but, in the face of a sudden outbreak of WWII, Stalin gives him a new task: his new mission is to enlist Polish officers from Kozielsk, Starobielsk, and Ostaszków camps to the Soviet Army.

Zarubin's methods are cynical. By abusing his position in a treacherous way, he tries to antagonize officers, extract crucial information and encourage them to cooperate with Soviet communists. A success of Zarubin's mission depends on the attitudes of Polish officers' towards his manipulations. This TV movie depicts the horrific situation of Polish officers living under pressure in captivity. The screenplay is based on true, evidenced story.

SYNOPSIS

It is a story of parents of a cursed soldier*, who died in 1946, told from a perspective of their 17-year-old grandson Janek. Department of Security digs up his body four times to make sure that the enemy of the state is truly dead. The mother cannot bear the humiliation, she steals away the coffin with the body, forces the husband to travel to Paclawska Calvary to bury their son again. The journey is full of dramatic events. Travellers are joined by Jurgen, a German fugitive from a prisoner-of-war camp. The film, which is written into the dramatic history of the postwar Poland, still remains universal in its story – a struggle of two parents to regain their dignity and balance in life after losing their child.

*Cursed soldiers – The end of the struggle of WWII in Europe did not mean peace for all. Thousands of people joined the partisan movements. The scale of their resistance resulted in a regular war being fought on numerous territories of Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, and Ukraine up to the mid-50s. Today, we call those people the Forgotten Soldiers, Forest Brothers or insurgents

SYNOPSIS

The film tells the story of Jan Banaś, a famous right-wing midfielder of Polish national team, who had a Polish-German origin and whose goal let Poland take the lead in the match against England in Chorzów in 1973. The film is a remarkable experience for the fans of football, but it is also a well-told story of an uneasy path to glory, its ups and downs. Jan Banaś grows up in Silesia. From his childhood, his greatest passion is football, and his greatest rival, a devoted friend, Ginter. As time passes by, friends' competition transfers from the backyard to the stadiums of Silesian football clubs:

Polonia Bytom and Górnik Zabrze. However, this is not the end of their rivalry. True emotions emerge when beautiful Marlena shows up in the life of both sport stars. When they both court her, Jan and Ginter quickly discover that there are no rules in the game of love. When a serious injury ends Ginter's career and in the same time brings Banaś closer to joining Górski's Eagles team, the main character faces a difficult choice that will determine the rest of his life. From now on, a chance to participate in the Olympic Games and the Football World Cup can be irreversibly lost.

Another long year's labors have ended, and Logger Vick is "pining" for home. But he finds, to his horror, that his paltry savings won't even get him a ticket on the train! Dejected but determined, he schemes to make up the difference with an all-out, full-scale tree-chopping frenzy! As the forest quakes under the weight of falling trees, Briar Bear and Bramble Bear rally their animal pals to defend against Vick's latest campaign of destruction. This is war, and these Friends of the Forest use every zany trick in the book to gain the victory...

...until they discover that this time Vick's actions are linked to a desperate plight to reach his beloved hometown for the holidays. Deeply moved by his predicament, the animals hatch a tree-free plan to make Ol' Vick's dearest dream come true! But with wintry weather, shaky transport, cross-country misdirection, and the might of the National Highway Patrol in the mix—the Boonie Bears Gang is cooking up an action-packed home-bound trek Vick will never forget!

SYNOPSIS

Boonie Bears is a 3D animated comedy series presented by Fantawild Animation Inc. This light-hearted comic romp, designed for children between the ages of 4 and 12, is set in a lovely wooded wonderland in rural Northeast China.

Though the surroundings might seem idyllic, deep in the heart of the region peace has been disrupted by the dastardly Logger Vick, who schemes to transform the majestic forest into his own personal lumberyard! Too bad for Vick-two strapping brown-bear brothers are determined to thwart his plans and send him packing. Together, Briar and Bramble Bear go about sabotaging every effort of that sneaky logging-crew foreman-and always with hilarious results! Boonie Bears chronicles the lengths to which the nefarious Logger Vick will go to bring down as many trees as time, equipment, and greed will allow.

If Vick is the no-luck villain of the piece, then bear siblings Briar and Bramble are its heart-of-gold heroes. Boonie Bears is a fast-paced comic battle for the forest-with the Good Guys grinning, and winning, and saving what's theirs. Set in the lush Northeast Chinese woodlands, Boonie Bears highlights the richly variegated colors of the region's changing seasons, together with other features that make it unique.

Against this captivating backdrop, a whimsical tale unfolds in which two bears challenge an unscrupulous outsider, and gain the victory through teamwork and perseverance. Logger Vick quickly comes to realize that it will take more than an array of heavy machinery to meet his overblown timber quota, as Briar and Bramble will never give up the fight for the woodlands they call home.

Wouldn't it be great fun for an animated series to focus on the lively workings of the insect world, just as children started exploring the wonders of nature for themselves?

In Brainy Bubbly Bug Buddies, audiences will be given an insight into the habits and habitats of actual insects of many kinds, and will learn how these creatures thrive in their environment - a lush wetland called The Marsh. There our insect characters all are savoring life in their own ways, always making the place buzzed with activities. Our little viewers will no doubt be captivated by the lively blend of action and discovery to be found in the colorful environs of

The Marsh, and visits to The Marsh will delight and intrigue, all while nurturing their budding quest for knowledge - and imbuing them with a healthy respect for life in the natural realm.

In the tiny nooks and crannies of this verdant hideaway, a thriving little insect colony is abuzz with activity. Residents face a variety of challenges, but caring neighbors always come through when the going gets tough! Welcome to 12 Zodiac Way! This is a story of the twelve animals of the Chinese Zodiac like you've never seen them before! Come journey with us to a charming little town called Fortune Valley, where the twelve animal-totems now associated with the Chinese lunar calendar spend their days frolicking merrily, often joining together to pursue a host of colorful projects and plans. This tale unfolds around the one spot in town where the action never stops-that's Zodiac Way.

Our twelve animals each take on roles designed to help their community flourish, assuming such varied posts as town sheriff, blacksmith, doctor, innkeeper, and noodle-maker extraordinary.

Being the lively and imaginative lot that they are, these neighbors tend to turn day-to-day activities into one-of-a-kind adventures.

A number of them employ formidable kung fu skills to aid them in the daily round, but at times their antics can prove to be a real handful for the peace-loving townsfolk of Fortune Valley! The Valley is a magical place hidden away in a mountain range that has been undisturbed for centuries. Since coming to reside there, The Twelve have added immeasurable zest to daily life in that locale. The streets are now filled with laughter, and good-natured hijinks abound. These twelve friends have not only brought to the town a new kind of energy, but most importantly, they are teaching the denizens of Fortune Valley to be strong and to persevere, even in the face of hardship. No problem is too big or too small for the twelve key inhabitants of Zodiac Way, and they're always willing to go that extra mile to help someone in need.

They have to be very careful because each time they touch a laser, they lose a diamond. To help them in their quest, they will answer general knowledge question with 3 possible answers. Each time they give a correct answer, they remove one red line and make their cross easier. The goal is to get through this pillar without being touched by the 4 lasers! To make their challenge easier, they will have to answer correctly one question in order to eliminate one laser. The contestants only have 30 seconds to give their answer. Either they give the correct answer and eliminate the laser of their choice, or they will have to show flexibility and strategy to deal with all 4 lasers. Now, they have to cross the pillar. Only one of the contestants has to cross. If he is touched by a laser, 1 diamond disappears and he has to try to get through the pillar again. When he succeeds, he confirms the 1st pillar and his teammate can join him.

The more they advance in the game, the more lasers there will be in the pillars. For each step, they will answer to questions to remove lasers. 5 red lines and 2 questions for the Step 2, 6 red lines and 3 questions for the Step 3 and 7 red lines and 4 questions for the Step 4.

The contestants can use a lifeline : the green laser. This laser can replace any red laser but is completely harmless. They can use it only once in the game.

The contestants went to the diamonds place. They still have X diamonds. They can win up X euros. REMINDER: Each diamond is worth 5.000 €. But the diamonds still don't belong to them... They are going to answer to the ultimate question to release them and take them. A question without limitation of time and which contains 10 possibilities. Only one is the good answer! Every mistake will make them lose a diamond. If they don't find the good answer, they will leave empty-handed. SYNOPSIS

The world has been shaped by major incidents that redefined its very essence, how we perceive and approach things. Difficult times filled with strife molded the people who endured them.

Especially with the spread of diseases being a recurring element, showing neither preference nor favor to anyone. The faith of many has been tested by these incidents, as they stood in the way of many traditions and acts of worship, one of them being Hajj. Hajj is one of the pillars of Islam, as the pilgrimage is a rite of passage for those who are devoted to the immaculate religion. It too has faced hardships due to the breakout of pandemics that have taken place throughout history.

Join us as we delve deep into the documented analogs of the past. As we observe records, detailed pictures and imagery, and scientific evidence that will facilitate our understanding of how the past correlates to our modern situation.

From the establishment of the El Rashada Caliphate, to the first quarantine sectors being set up, covering the plague, cholera, typhoid, SARS and the Coronavirus, this is the history of Hajj, in the times of pandemics."

Prophet Mohammad (SaaS) said, "I was sent to complete the good morality." So what is good morality

For this reason, we only need to look at the verses of the Qur'an and the life of our Prophet (SaaS). Prophet Mohammad (SaaS) says in many Hadith that Islam is founded on the basis of good morals and applies it to his own life.

When there is no good morality, which is the essence of Islam, worship is in danger, while the balance of social life is also disturbed.

In this program we explain, what it means to have good morals, what we must do to have good morals and what we must avoid. We explain it in the light of the Qur'an and the Sunnah.
